Dear Mr Smith,

I am writing to you to invite you to a conference about Creative Commons and sharing information online. The conference will include an exhibition of free artwork, a concert by Sean Fournier – a musician who releases his music for free – and the premiere of Sita Sings the Blues, an open source film.

The event will take place on the 18th of November at the London Olympia exhibition centre. Lunch will be provided, and entry to the conference is free for people who book early.

If you'd like to attend this event, please register your place with us on our website at <http://conference.somerights.org.uk>

Yours sincerely,

Tara Brinn
Director of Communications
